

GRANDVIEW-WOODLAND AREA COUNCIL

invites you to attend

Non-Market Housing, Grandview-Woodland and EcoDensity – A Good Fit?

Monday September 8th, 2008

7 – 9 pm

Learning Resources Centre (under the Library),
Britannia Community Centre, 1661 Napier Street.

All are welcome

EcoDensity may lead to new and improved buildings in Grandview-Woodland and other Vancouver neighbourhoods, but is affordable non-market housing at risk due to lack of strategic long term planning and funding cuts?

Speakers:

Natasha Jategaonkar, Research Director of the BC Non-Profit Housing Association (BCNPHA), will outline BCNPHA services and provide some recent research data on current non-profit housing initiatives.

Darren Kitchen, Government Relations Director of the Co-operative Housing Federation of BC (CHF BC), will talk about his work with the City of Vancouver to ensure that co-operative housing remains viable for Vancouver.

Founded 34 years ago, the Grandview-Woodland Area Council (GWAC) is a not-for-profit volunteer operated society that offers a monthly forum for residents to express opinions and take action on civic problems and needs occurring in the Grandview Woodland area.
